

ALL the WORLD'S a GAME

STEM & THE POWER OF INNOVATION

2ND ANNUAL STEM ACADEMY SHOWCASE

Science Technology Engineering Math (STEM) Academy

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 2012

Get in the Game!

4 - 6 P.M.

SUPERGENIUS

ANTON
KIMBALL
DESIGN

Join us for engaging, hands-on sessions led by industry experts in design, game programming, animation and video production. Each student may attend two of the three 45-minute sessions (A, B, C) offered at 4 p.m and 5 p.m. Space is limited. RSVP to STEM Director David Heineck at dheineck@lsprep.org.

A - Video Production + Compositioning: Funnelbox Production Studios Jr. Creative Director, Jesse Salsberry

B - Art + Animation for the Video Game Generation: Supergenius Animation Director, Bryan Provencher

C - Video Game Logos + Branding + Promotion: Anton Kimball Design Owner, Anton Kimball

STEM ACADEMY AT LA SALLE PREP

Get in the Know: STEM Academy Showcase

6 - 7 P.M.

Meet La Salle's STEM Academy teachers and students. Tour the MAC Lab and facilities, enjoy demonstrations, gather information about the STEM curriculum and La Salle's Robotics team. No RSVP necessary.

Get "Inside" the Game!

7 P.M.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: TOM SPERRY, CEO OF EXIT GAMES, INC.

EXIT GAMES®

Get an insider's view of the world of video game development. Tom Sperry, who began his career at Microsoft as an International Program Manager in the Games Division, will share his experience of thinking outside the box. Sperry, who earned his MBA and is former CEO of Blade 3D in Shanghai, China, will illustrate the real world value of a STEM education and explore the future of global technologies.

Sperry will be joined by Jesse Salsberry, Funnelbox Production Studios' Jr. Creative Director and Bryan Provencher, Supergenius' Animation Director, to provide a behind-the-scenes look at video game creation from concept to market.

Everyone is welcome. Refreshments will be served. No RSVP necessary.